About

A native Italian speaker, I combine over 20 years of technical experience as an engineer with expert competence as translator and proofreader.

The terminology accuracy and effectiveness of my translations is grounded in my years of electrical engineering study and telecom engineering work for large, multinational corporations in the United Kingdom, Italy and Sweden.

With my strong background, current technical knowledge, and expert language and translation skills, I deliver seamless translations of a wide range of technical documentation: patents, installation/operation/ service manuals, user guides, white papers, safety data sheets, webinars, presentations and much more.
